

Call for Stories

Rocky Mountain Storytelling and Longmont Museum & Cultural Center

The Living and the Dead: Performances of Oral Storytelling

October 18 10:30 am and October 25 7:15 pm, 2018, Longmont, CO

Submissions due 8/31/2018 midnight to Stories@YHealy.com

Rocky Mountain Storytelling www.rmstory.org in collaboration with Longmont Museum will present two oral storytelling performances to celebrate Día de los Muertos on October 18, 2018 and October 25, 2018. The events are part of the Museum's annual month-long signature exhibition and promises to be, again this year, the largest Day of the Dead celebration in Colorado. Events take place at Longmont Museum Auditorium, 400 Quail Road, Longmont, CO 80501.

Theme

Traditionally, el Día de los Muertos is celebrated to acknowledge the brevity of life and to help deceased loved ones in their mystical journey. People of all cultures honor those who have died; this storytelling event hopes to illuminate how different cultures approach death in celebration, mourning, and remembrance.

Programs

One 45-minute school program will be performed to grades 6-12 on October 18th 10:30 am; one 90-minute story concert for adults and teens will be performed on October 25th 7:15 pm. Chosen artists must participate in sound check 45 minutes before performance. A bilingual Hispanic story will be chosen as well as personal or traditional stories from around the world. *Stories will be performed without notes. * Music may be included in the story.

Compensation

Storytellers will be paid for their work at a rate of $100 school show/$150 adult show. Performers with extended travel will be offered free lodging, possibly in private homes, and ground transportation from Denver.
